MRS. THAW TELLS MORE OF HER RELATIONS WITH STANFORD WHITE

HUNDREDS PAY TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE THOMAS T. DARGIE Eulogy Is Delivered by M. C. Chapman in St. John's Episcopal Church and the Solemn Service Is Read by Rev. David McClure.

WEALTH OF FLORAL OFFERINGS

The funeral of the late Thomas T. Dargie, postmaster of Oakland, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Episcopal Church of St. John at the corner of Grove and Eighth streets. It was attended by a large number of sorrowing friends and professional associates, all classes in the community being so represented, despite the inclemency of the weather, as to tax the accommodations of the sacred edifice to the utmost. Among those who testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held and gave recognition to his public services were leading members of the legal profession, prominent business men in all walks of trade and members of the letter-carrying and clerical forces of the Oakland postoffice.

WEALTH OF FLOWERS.
In the transept of the church were a number of floral tributes, comprising symbols of every kind of memorial work known to the florist and expressive of esteem and regret, all of which had come accompanied also with tender expressions of sympathy for the bereaved family of the deceased. The exercises were simple in the extreme in keeping with the modest worth and known wishes of the deceased.

FUNERAL CORTAGE.
The funeral cortege left the late residence of Mr. Dargie, at the northwest corner of East Sixteenth street and Sixth avenue East Oakland, shortly after 1 o'clock. The remains had lain in an imposing black, cloth-covered casket, beneath a floral pall, with a tender and reverent farewell was taken of the deceased by friends and relatives.

On all sides in the parlors and adjoining halls were floral pieces, the odor of which pervaded all the apartments of the home.

The casket bearers were eight members of the letter-carrier force of the Oakland postoffice, as follows: Charles Herkner, Joseph D. Scott, Laman R. Barr, Dan J. Hollahan, Frank E. Burger, Edward Campbell, John Z. Barnett and Joseph E. Koenig.

The honorary pallbearers were Dr. D. D. Crowley, Judge John Ellisworth, Paul J. Schaffer, Rod W. Church, L. C. Morehouse, Justice P. W. Houshaw, George Pierce, Edward McGary, John C. Adams, Joseph E. Baker, Alex. Doir, James B. Earber, Jay Cook, Everett J. Brown, C. H. Brosnahan, Emil Nusbaum.

The cortege moved along Sixth avenue to Twelfth street, to Clay street, where it was met by the local letter-carriers and clerks, male and female, of the postoffice.

The carriers formed in line and acted as escort to the funeral which proceeded down Clay to Tenth, thence to Castro, thence to Eighth, and thence to the church at the corner of Grove street.

AT THE CHURCH.
The letter carriers went into open column from the curb to the entrance of the church until the casket, mourners and honorary pallbearers had entered the portal, at which place the remains were met by Rev. Alexander Allen, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church; Rev. Edgar F. Gee, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, and Rev. David McClure, formerly principal of McClure's Military Academy in this city, which, in youth, was attended by the deceased.

The lady attaches of the postoffice had previously entered the church and taken seats reserved for them and rose as the remains were borne along the main aisle.

Seats had been reserved for the mourners and pallbearers, as also for the letter carriers, and when those places had been filled the general public were ushered to the remaining seats.

While the party was assembling the organ, in a sympathetic manner, intoned "Let Me Know Mine End."

BURIAL SERVICE.

Oakland Masonic Quartet, comprising D. M. Lawrence, Alfred Wilkie, H. W. Patrick and Wilhelm Nielsen, then rendered, to organ accompaniment, "Abide With Me."

The music was under the direction of Alfred Wilkie.

The burial service of the Episcopal Church was then read by Rev. David McClure, retired, of San Francisco. The clergyman trembled with emotion, because he is now weighted with eighty years and because, when a young man and the head of the celebrated academy which bore his name, the deceased was one of the most dutiful and promising scholars of the institution and a favorite pupil of the principal.

During the intervening years the friendly relation formed so long ago has been maintained, and the presence of the aged clergyman was in compliance with the expressed wish of the deceased that the preceptor of early days should pronounce the last benediction of the church over his remains.

The Oakland Masonic Quartet then rendered "Now the Laborer's Task Is Over."

M. C. CHAPMAN'S EULOGY.

Ex-Mayor M. C. Chapman, of this city, a life-long friend of the deceased, then pronounced a fervid eulogy on the deceased, as follows:

"By reason of an unbroken and unswerving friendship of more than twenty years, I feel constrained to say a few words of praise and hope concerning him, who is at last at rest."

"The world is better because our friend has lived. He was a man of fine sensibilities and stainless honor. He was cheerful, courteous, kind, frank, sincere and bravely honest. He was a man of truth and stamina and was always invincible for the right, and so it was that he discharged in full measure every duty, public and private, leaving nothing further to be demanded of or from him."

"Was he your friend? Then he was your friend, in sunshine and in shadow, for he loved his friends, that he was the friend of all their friends."

HAD NO MALICE.

"Was he your adversary? Then he was such from principle, for there was no malice in his heart. Better than all this, there was peace at his bedside, sunshine in his home. There the innocence of childhood gladly felt the embrace of his loving arms and listened to the beating of a father's heart. There the woman in whom his affections centered, rejoiced in his loving loyalty. There's no place like home."

"There was in the vocabulary of this man no such word as surrender. He was morally brave and physically brave. He never laid his armor down, even in the last weary hours. With undaunted soul he strove to cheer and comfort those about him, and bade the weary watchers to bear bravely up. This man was not made of common clay."

"What shall be said of wife and child, mother, brother and sister."

"These are they who sought by all the arts of love to assuage the suffering, and to cheer the sufferer. Surely there is for them now that consolation that comes from the full measure of their loving devotion, and also for them the sad though hopeful sympathy of all."

PARTING TRIBUTE.

The attaches of the postoffice and letter carriers then passed on either side of the bier and each attache, in passing, deposited upon the pall violets, ferns and lilies of the valley, a small native spray of maiden hair fern as a final tribute to the man and friend.

TO THE GRAVE.

The remains were then borne from the church, the cortege was reformed and moved along the following streets, many people standing on the curb with heads uncovered as the casket was borne past: Eighth to Clay, Clay to Fourteenth, Fourteenth to Broadway.

When the postoffice at Seventeenth street was reached the letter carriers stood on the pavement in open order with heads uncovered. Behind them upon the sidewalk, with the postoffice as a background, were ranged a concourse of people, among whom were the attaches of all the clerical departments in the postoffice. Through the open file of the carriers and past the sorrowing group on the sidewalks the hearse and carriages passed slowly, the eyes of many of the on-lookers being suffused with tears.

THE INTERMENT.

Interment took place in the Dargie plot in Mountain View Cemetery, the last prayers of the Episcopal Church, for the commitment of the dead, were pronounced by Dr. McClure, the Oakland Masonic Quartet softly singing "Good Night, I Am Going Home."

FLORAL TRIBUTES.

Among the floral tributes were the following:

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Mrs. Thaw said today that after her first experience with Stanford White the relations with him continued for a time. Tears came into Mrs. Thaw's eyes as Jerome continued to question her intimately about her relations with White. One of the newspaper women left the room. Mrs. Thaw said the relations continued against her will. She cried bitterly. Thaw hid his face in his hands when Jerome bitterly attacked his wife. Her testimony was sensational in the extreme.

STARTLING STORY IS TOLD IN COURT

Mrs. Thaw Confesses That She Used to Get Intoxicated in the Jolly Company of Stanford White.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The climax of sensationalism seemed to have been reached in the Thaw trial today when District Attorney Jerome continued to lash Evelyn Nesbit Thaw under a pitiless cross-examination.

No secret of the woman's past was too private for the district attorney to oblige her to lay it bare.

He made her admit, with tears streaming down her cheeks, that her relations with White continued for several months after the first event when she claimed to have been drugged.

Mrs. Thaw declared that in every instance she had been plied with wine.

As the district attorney exposed her relations with White Mrs. Thaw wept bitterly. Thaw sat with his face buried in his hands. Jerome wanted every detail.

Mrs. Thaw tearfully told all. She said she informed Thaw of these experiences with Stanford White, but had forgotten to relate them during her direct examination.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The prospect that District Attorney Jerome would develop more surprises when he continued the cross-examination of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw this morning brought another big crowd to the court room where the trial of Harry Thaw is being held.

Thaw entered the court room immediately after the jury without waiting to be formally called. His hair was mussed and his manner was eager and nervous. He carried a large pad of paper and after taking his seat proceeded to make notes of his wife's testimony.

When Justice Fitzgerald had taken his place upon the bench there was a conference among the attorneys and it was decided there would be no session tomorrow, Washington's birthday.

When Mrs. Thaw was called to the stand she glanced at her husband and smiled. Then she turned to Justice Fitzgerald and made a little bow to him, but the justice did not notice her.

SPICY TESTIMONY.

Mr. Jerome consulted his notes at some length before beginning to question the witness, and finally called her attention to her closing testimony of yesterday.

MRS. EVELYN NESBIT THAW

"Did you continue to believe all women were unchaste, as Stanford White told you, until you talked with Thaw in Paris in 1903?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Yes, sir," replied Mrs. Thaw, meekly.

"Do you know a place called the 'Dead Rat'?"

"Yes."

"Where is the 'Dead Rat'?"

"Somewhere in Paris."

"Have you ever been there?"

"Yes."

ABOUT THE "DEAD RAT."

"What kind of a place is it?"

"A cafe."

"Is it a reputable place?"

"I don't know."

"Did it seem so to you?"

"I don't know—people were sitting about eating."

"Was somebody dancing?"

"I think so."

"Was it 2 o'clock in the morning?"

"Possibly."

"Did you see a cakewalk?"

"No."

"Sure there was no cakewalk?"

"There may have been. I don't remember. I remember the Russian dance."

"Was it before or after Thaw proposed that you went to the 'Dead Rat'?"

"After."

"How many times were you at the 'Dead Rat'?"

"I think only once."

"Can't you fix even the year of your visit?"

"I think it was 1904."

STEAMER IS WRECKED! OVER 100 DROWN

Accident Occurs Off Hook of Holland; Members of Opera Company Are Lost in Doomed Vessel.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The Rotterdam mail steamer Berlin, from England, with 141 passengers and crew, was wrecked off the Hook of Holland, at the entrance of the River Maas, leading to Rotterdam, shortly before 6 o'clock this morning and with a few exceptions all on board perished.

A terrific southwest gale was blowing in shore and drove the steamer on a sand bank close to the northern jetty as she was trying to enter the new waterway. Heavy seas quickly pounded the vessel to pieces. She broke in two, her forepart sinking immediately, while the doomed passengers and crew could be seen for a brief space of time clustered upon the afterpart. Then the afterpart slipped off the ledge and disappeared.

Tugs and lifeboats, when the alarms were sounded, put out to the assistance of the Berlin, but the violence of the gale and heavy seas made it impossible to approach the wreck and the helpless life-savers saw the steamer break up and the crew and passengers washed away without being able to render the slightest assistance.

One man, an Englishman, was saved. He was unconscious when taken out of the water and had not regained consciousness when he was carried to a hotel in the neighborhood.

By 7 o'clock this morning 25 bodies had already been washed ashore.

OPERA TROUP DROWNED.

Among those who were drowned are 19 members of a German opera company who had just concluded their season at Covent Garden. The manager of Covent Garden said today:

"So far as we know these do not

The ordeal through which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw passed when telling the story of her life on the witness stand was almost as hard on her husband as it was for herself. These sketches were made in court during the recital of her wrongs. First from left to right is shown Harry Thaw, staring straight ahead with tears on his cheeks. The second sketch shows how the ordeal wore down the prisoner almost to the state of collapse, and the third indicates the fixed stare with which he followed the testimony of his young wife.

Mr. Delmas objected on the ground that it was mutilated and the date not fixed.

"Do you know of your own knowledge when this was written?"

"I have not the slightest idea."

"Will you note the paging of that letter?"

"Yes."

"Did you and Mr. Thaw, while in Paris, write joint letters to friends, you writing part and he the rest?"

"I cannot say positively, very likely we did."

"Had you changed your opinion in regard to the general chastity of women?"

"I had."

"How soon after your talk with Thaw did you change your mind?"

"Very soon."

"At the time you left Paris in June, 1903, had you changed your mind?"

"Yes."

The witness could not remember how long it was after Thaw's proposal of marriage that she left Paris.

"Before the time you left Paris had you any appreciation that meretricious relations between men and women were immoral and wrong?"

KNOW IT WAS WRONG.

"Not until after my talk with Mr. Thaw."

"Before that you did not believe it wrong?"

"Oh, yes."

"Very wrong?"

"Not particularly. I knew people said it was wrong."

"Did you think it very indelicate and vulgar?"

"That is all."

"That it was only bad taste?"

"Yes."

"But you did not think it wrong?"

"I did not fully realize it until I went to Paris."

"Did you belong to any religious organization?"

"No."

"You went to church and Sunday school in Pittsburgh?"

"Not in Pittsburgh."

"In Paris it was impressed on you that White had done you a terrible wrong?"

"In a way."

"Before you left Paris you had begun to look on such relations as very wrong?"

"Yes."

INFAMOUS ACTS.

"Had you come to a full understanding of the infamous character of White's act?"

"Yes, but not so much as I have now."

"Yet it was this that induced your renunciation of Thaw's great love?"

Mr. Delmas asked Mr. Jerome what he thought a sneering question.

Mr. Jerome denied any such thing.

"Do you use the word 'renunciation' sincerely?" asked Mr. Delmas.

"This story is true, I do," said Mr. Jerome. "Never in the history—"

"I renew my objection," interrupted Mr. Delmas.

"Do you mean to tell me the story is not true?" asked Mr. Jerome of Mr. Delmas. "That's the only reason you can object."

Justice Fitzgerald sustained the objection.

"Did you refuse Thaw because of the occurrence with White?" asked Mr. Jerome of the witness.

"Because I had been found out."

"Who told you you had been caught?"

"Friends of Stanford White."

"So it was not because of the occurrence, but because you had been found out?"

"It was both together. I had an instinct about it. When Mr. Thaw proposed it was the first proposal I ever had, and it all struck me very seriously. It all came together."

"You felt the most heinous wrong had been done you at the time of your ravishment?"

HEINOUS WRONG.

"I did not know anything about it at the time. All I remember is what I felt like when I woke up. I did not understand what had taken place."

"It outraged every maidenly instinct in you, didn't it?"

"It did and that is why I quarreled with Stanford White."

"You were very bitter against White when you told Thaw, were you not?"

"Not then."

"When you felt you were giving up Thaw's love, you did not feel bitter against White?"

"Not until Mr. Thaw made me realize it."

"You remember writing to White from Boulogne?"

"Yes."

"Did you still feel bitter against White?"

"Yes, I did."

"It was a feeling of enmity against your ravisher?"

"I would not say enmity—it was hostility against him for this one thing and subsequent things."

"What subsequent things?"

"Things with Stanford White."

"Were they improper and indecent?"

"I don't know what you would call them."

"You were thinking of these things when you wrote White from Boulogne?"

ACCUSES HER MOTHER.

"Yes, and of his extraordinary personality."

"His personality had softened the feeling, had it?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"In one way it had, in another it had not."

"Then why did you write that letter to White?" demanded Mr. Jerome fiercely.

"Because my mother would give me no peace until I did it."

Mrs. Thaw raised her voice as she made this reply.

"You were coerced into writing?"

"Yes, I was. My mother said I was ungrateful to Mr. White and things like that."

"Had you any occasion to doubt the chastity of your own mother?"

"I never thought of my mother in that way," Mrs. Thaw stamped her foot.

DID NOT TELL MOTHER.

"Did you tell your mother of your ravishment while abroad?"

"I never told her."

"How did you know Stanford White's friends knew of your relation with White?"

"One of them saw me with him at the East Twenty-second street studio."

"Was there any impropriety there?"

So you continued to maintain relations with White, after your ravishment?"

"Yes, for a time."

Thaw buried his face in his hands. Tears were in Mrs. Thaw's eyes.

Mr. Jerome demanded the name of the man who had seen her at the studio. He asked the witness to whisper it.

Mr. Delmas wanted it publicly announced. Justice Fitzgerald settled the matter, saying the name might be given to counsel, the court and the jury.

"Did you tell Harry Thaw about these subsequent relations?"

"Yes."

"And you did not think to tell us on your direct examination?"

"No."

"Can you fix dates as to these subsequent events?"

"No."

SAW HER UNDERESSED.

"How did you know this man knew of your relations with White?"

"He saw me undressed in the bedroom under the studio."

"Wholly undressed?"

"Yes."

"How long did the relations continue?"

"Not after January, 1902."

"How many incidents were there?"

"I don't remember."

"Were they frequent?"

"No."

"Ten times?"

"I can't remember."

"Where did these things occur?"

"At the 22nd street and 24th street studios and in the tower."

"And on these occasions you consented?"

"I did not."

"It was done by violence?"

"Partly."

"Were you drugged again?"

"No."

TOO MUCH WINE.

"Did you have too much wine?"

"Yes."

"What time of the day did these incidents occur?"

"Usually after the theater."

"On the first occasion, where did you go?"

"To the 24th street studio."

"You went from the theater?"

"Yes."

"Alone?"

"I don't remember."

"And this was within a month after your ravishment?"

"Yes."

"Did you go of your own accord?"

"I objected to going."

"Why did you go?"

"I had to."

"Was your mother back?"

"Yes."

"Did she meet you after the theater?"

"Not that night."

"When White came to the theater that night what did he say?"

"He did not come to the theater. He wrote me; he met me afterward."

WANTED THE SUPPER.

"Why did you go with him?"

"No."

"Because he insisted."

"And you did not want to go?"

"I wanted to go to supper."

Mr. Jerome continued to press the witness for details.

Several intimate questions he asked her way

she did not tell her mother of these occurrences.

"I was afraid. He made me swear never to tell her," replied the witness.

Continuing, Mrs. Thaw admitted that White gave her wine on that night and that she was slightly intoxicated.

The witness was rapidly losing her self-possession and as Mr. Jerome continued to ply her with delicate questions she broke down and wept.

"We might take a recess, the witness seems—" Mr. Jerome began.

Mr. Delmas objected. "If there is to be a recess it's not to be on account of the witness. I think she will be able to go on."

Mrs. Thaw wiped her eyes several times and straightened up. Mr. Jerome proceeded.

Mr. Jerome proceeded:

"When you returned to your home you felt you had been wronged?"

"Yes."

"Were you under the influence of liquor then?"

"No."

"The next morning did you tell your mother?"

"No, I could not."

WAS INTOXICATED.

Mrs. Thaw told of several other like incidents, in each case the questions and answers being the same. She said on each occasion she was given much wine and was slightly intoxicated. On no occasion did she yield willingly.

"Do you know Dr. Carlton Flint?"

"No."

"Did you ever consult him?"

"I do not remember."

"Did you ever go to a doctor with a man?"

"Yes, with Mr. Thaw once."

"Ever with anyone else?"

"With Mr. White."

"Did you ever go to a doctor's office with Jack Barrymore?"

"Never."

"Did not you go with him to Dr. Flint in 1901 or 1902?"

"Yes."

"I never did."

"When you went to Paris in 1903 you told Mr. Thaw all this?" asked Mr. Jerome, returning to the relationship with White.

"I did."

"Did he express himself forcibly?"

"He did."

"Did he characterize White as wrong, wicked and deserving punishment?"

"Yes."

"Did you then think the acts as bad as he said?"

"I do not know."

"It seemed awful to you?"

"It was the worst thing that ever happened to me."

"Then why did you write Mr. White from Boulogne?"

"Because my mother made me."

"Why had you not told your mother about all this?"

"I could not."

"You had rather write to this great brute, this monster, as you believed him, than tell her?"

"I'd rather have died than tell her."

Mr. Jerome read scraps of a letter which Mrs. Thaw had said was in her husband's writings. It read:

"He could not keep his eyes off any pretty girl. There was trouble because he went there to dine. Several beautiful (?) girls were there last week and Belle. Nobody paid any attention to her and she went away after a few minutes. The first time she came to Evelyn she never spoke. Evelyn cried. For some reason she did not perform well. I introduced the ladies to her and they grinned sweetly. The night of the Grand Prix there was a swell time at the Cafe de Paris. Afterwards the 'Dead Rat,' Miss Winchester was there and we got her cakewalking at 2 a. m. It was a great hit. Rosenfeld and Belmont were there."

Mrs. Thaw identified another letter written by her from Paris. The letter was addressed to an unmarried actress and said:

"Your suggestion that the tenderloin has immigrated has panned out. Everywhere we go we find shady nooks. Shubert and a lot of others are here. We were dining at the Cafe Paris the other evening when the whole bunch came in. We joined parties and went out to such a harmless place as the 'Dead Rat.' There was one jolly man who puts things upon the blink wherever he goes. He is 60 years old, but spry as a chicken. We took him along for fun. We made things hum. We started home when the markets were getting busy. Harry bought some strawberries and things, and I spent the rest of the day cooking. When we return my voice is going to be cultivated. Be good and whirl me another letter soon. Your letters are wonderful. I have got—all worked up about you, so send along another photograph. If it is a good one. You must come over soon."

Mr. Jerome asked at what date Stanford White deposited the first sum for the witness' benefit. This was in 1901, and preceding the fund established in the Mercantile Trust Company.

"I don't like to state things that I am not sure about."

"I don't want you to," replied Mr. Jerome, in a kindly voice. "In certain letters Stanford White wrote you, didn't he remonstrate with you in regard to the extravagances?"

Justice Fitzgerald upheld Mr. Delmas' objection saying the letters should be produced.

Mr. Jerome turned to Mr. Delmas.

"I demand that you produce certain letters written by Stanford White to Evelyn Nesbit."

"I have no such letters."

Mr. Delmas arose as he spoke.

"I refer to counsel in general," said Mr. Jerome.

"I never heard of the letters until Mrs. Thaw testified they were written to her while in Paris. If they are the property of some one else, I cannot produce them."

"We'll settle this," said Mr. Jerome sharply. He turned to Clifford W. Hartridge.

"Will you take the stand?"

HARTRIDGE CALLED.

Mrs. Thaw was temporarily excused and Mrs. Hartridge was sworn.

"What is your occupation?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Attorney," replied Mr. Hartridge.

"You represent the defendant?"

"Yes."

"Have you in your possession letters written by Stanford White to Evelyn Nesbit?"

"I decline to answer."

"On what grounds?"

"I decline to answer."

"Why?"

"I am the attorney of record in this case, and I decline to give the District Attorney any information for that reason."

"Have you shown Mr. Delmas any papers in this case?"

"I decline to answer."

It was here that Mr. Delmas sprang a genuine sensation.

"This witness is represented by counsel. She has had occasion to retain counsel because of certain threats made against her."

THREATS MADE.

"What threats and where? by whom and to whom?" demanded Mr. Jerome.

"Threats overheard in this courtroom. Threats that it is your purpose to indict this witness," replied Mr. Delmas.

"There has been no such statement made in court," replied Mr. Jerome calmly.

"You are Mrs. Thaw's attorney also?" asked Mr. Jerome of Mr. Hartridge.

"Yes."

"Have you any of her papers?"

"Yes."

"Given to you by her or the defendant?"

Mr. Hartridge declined to answer upon the ground of professional relation with Mrs. Thaw.

"If Mrs. Thaw releases you and consents, will you produce them?"

"I cannot answer that here. I would have to speak with Mrs. Thaw and counsel."

"Do you know Dr. Allan Hamilton?"

"Yes."

"Have you in your office any report from him?"

"Same answer for same reasons," replied Mr. Hartridge.

At this point luncheon recess was taken.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Doctors Deemar and Bingham were called at the opening of the afternoon session and questioned regarding the probability of their being in court when wanted as witnesses.

Justice Fitzgerald announced he would hold court tomorrow and Saturday for the benefit of the two physicians who are anxious to return to their homes.

Mrs. Thaw was recalled.

"Have you any objection to the letters written by Stanford White to you being produced here?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"No."

Mr. Jerome turned to Mr. Hartridge.

"Your client has waived her right. Will you let me have the letters?"

"I did not say I waived anything," interrupted Mrs. Thaw. "I say I have no objection."

"Are you willing they should be produced?"

"As far as I am concerned, yes."

Mr. Jerome directed a subpoena to be issued for Mr. Hartridge and the letters. He asked Mrs. Thaw if she was in love with Thaw when she turned over certain of his letters to Mr. Hummel.

"I don't think I was, after what I had heard."

Mr. Jerome here turned to the judge, saying:

"Mr. Hartridge has been served now and I think we might have the letters?"

"Does counsel still refuse to give the letters up?" asked the judge.

"He says he will not comply."

"It might save the court's time," interposed Mr. Hartridge "for me to say

COUNCIL IS SUSPICIOUS OF WATER FRONT BILL

Believes Measure at Sacramento Giving State Control of Oakland Harbor May Work Injury.

A surprise was sprung last night when the committee of the whole of the City Council refused to endorse Senator Frank Leavitt's water front bill which is before the Legislature at Sacramento on the ground that some of its provisions might be construed as inimical to all railroads save the Southern Pacific Company. The action at once caused the city fathers to hesitate in giving their approval to what all corporate interests are sure to regard as a measure which would give the State control of the water front of the city of Oakland.

RUSSIAN PRINCESS IS BRIDE OF "JERRY" LANFIELD IN SOUTHERN PART OF FRANCE

Popular Berkeley Instructor Will Return to the College Town With His Wife, Who Is of the Imperial Family.

BERKELEY, Feb. 21.—Jerry Lanfield, regularly known as Professor Lanfield, has become a benedict. At Cannes in the South of France, he last night married Princess Linba of Russia. What is more, at least in the eyes of his California friends, he is to bring his princess back with him to Berkeley. Jerry is soon to take up again his work with the history department of the University.

Jerry Lanfield during the time he passed in California was regarded as the most eligible young man in the University faculty. He was an inveterate guest at all the big social affairs in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley and was always welcome at a dinner party. Now is a time of mourning for the mothers of unmarried native daughters.

MRS. JEROME LANFIELD, formerly Princess Linba of Russia.

ORIGIN OF NAME OF "SPIT DOGS."

There was a time when dogs did the roasting; at least they kept the meat turning so it would not burn. Spit dogs they were called and their descendants are called spits to this day. The title fellows did their work well. They were never known to let a fowl burn or to let a mouthful of food from it. As late as 1816 spit dogs were employed.

TELEGRAPH LINE TO BE PROTECTED

For the projected telegraph line from Algeria to the Niger river the telegraph posts in the Sahara will be metallic and placed at distances of sixty yards the wires being high enough to allow the passage of a man on camelback. At intervals along the 600 miles of the Algerian section six small garrisoned stations will be established. At a central redoubt surrounded by outer fences provisions will be stored for three months round a cistern.

WATER COMPANY CLAIMS BIG INCREASE IN VALUE

People's Corporation Says Its Plant Is Worth $3,000,000 More Than Last Year.

The Peoples Water Co. through its attorney, M. C. Chapman, gave notice last night at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole of the City Council, that it would demand that the value of its Oakland plant for water purposes be assessed at $10,000,000. This is an increase of $3,000,000 over Judge Hart's valuation and practically an increase of $5,000,000 over the valuation placed upon the plant last year by the City Council.

The Committee of the Whole met, as required by law to begin the task of fixing water rates for the ensuing year. The matter of valuation was brought up by a direct question from Councilman Pendleton. "How much of an increase in valuation do you claim for last year?" asked Pendleton. "About $3,000,000," replied Attorney Chapman. "That would make a total valuation of approximately $10,000,000," inquired Pendleton.

Attorney Chapman replied in the affirmative. Councilman Pendleton then asked Attorney Chapman when he could give figures and data showing the increase in the assessed valuation and the valuation for rate fixing purpose. Chapman replied that he would like a reasonable time and suggested two weeks. This request was acceded to by the committee.

TAKES DOWN NOTES. During the preliminary questions Harvey Darnell, a stenographer in the employ of the Water Company, took down the proceedings in shorthand. Councilman Fitzgerald discovered the fact and suggested that the city stenographer be safe guarded in the same manner. Councilman Hahn thought the city should have a stenographer as did also Baccus.

Chairman Meese suggested before a motion was put that the question of a stenographer be put to the City Attorney. The course was decided. In response to a question from several of the Councilmen Attorney Chapman stated that Engineer Arthur L. Adams, who was employed by the Contra Costa Water Company as an expert would be present on behalf of the Peoples Water Company during the rate hearing. It was then decided that the city should re-employ Engineer J. H. Dockwiler who served as the city's expert last year.

The committee then continued the matter until March 7. Those present were Councilmen Baccus, Burns, Aikin, Fitzgerald, Pendleton, Hahn, Meese and Thurston.

WIFE FIGHTS FOR CORPSE

Parents of Suicide Oppose Her In Making Arrangements for Funeral.

A dispute has arisen between the parents and the wife of Charles Moller who committed suicide Tuesday night when brought to bay by the officers of the law at Sixty-first street and San Pablo avenue as to who shall bury the young carpenter. His father, William Moller of Alameda has given orders to Alameda undertakers to attend to the incineration of the remains under the auspices of Golden Gate Parlor of the Native Sons, of which Moller was a member. His wife has sent word to an Oakland undertaker to take charge of the remains and it is not known what will be the outcome of the controversy. It was Moller's wish that his father take care of his remains and he asked especially in his farewell note to his parent, that his wife or her relatives be excluded from attending the funeral.

GOVERNORS BESEIGED BY ADVOCATES OF NEW CAPITAL

The Leading Citizens of Alameda County Appear in Favor of Removal to Berkeley.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 21.—That the announced determination of Berkeley to secure the removal of the State capital to that city is an earnest and well planned movement of the leading citizens and business men of Alameda county was made evident yesterday afternoon by the arrival on a special car of a committee of twenty-one members to lay the matter before the Legislature. The descended upon Governor Gillett's office in the dismantled capitol building, where they were received by the Governor and Lieutenant Governor Porter, and then arranged for the introduction in both houses of the Legislature today of a proposed constitutional amendment placing Berkeley as the capital of California. A concurrent resolution will also be presented extending to the entire Legislature an invitation to visit Berkeley on a special train Saturday morning at the expense of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

SUNDAY BILL IS DEFEATED

Measure to Make Sabbath a Day of Rest Fails in the Assembly.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 21.—Sunday as a day of rest and all other "days of rest" was given a quietus yesterday afternoon in the Assembly, and a vote of twenty ayes to forty-six noes effectually squelched all hope for further action along this line. The matter came up on Johnson's Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 2, for which the committee on Constitutional Amendments offered a substitution that eliminated the Sunday enactment, making it a labor measure by providing that no laboring man should work more than six days in any week.

Gov. L. Johnson, author of the measure made a strong speech favoring the original bill. He said he had always stood for observance of Sunday as a day of rest, and pointed to eastern states that have such a law as being the better and most advanced in Christian civilization. He denied that the bill was a church measure, backed by the ministers and church federations, but was a bill that would work for the uplifting of the people of California and stamp the coast State as a member of the great body that recognized this country as a Christian country.

TRAIN KILLS YOUNG NEGRO

Elevator Operator Is Hit by Engine in the West Oakland Yards.

Falling to hear the warning whistle of an approaching Alameda local, Walter Johnson, a young negro, twenty years of age, was struck and almost instantly killed about 6 o'clock last evening in the West Oakland yards of the Southern Pacific Company at the foot of Wood street.

Johnson was walking along the tracks with A. Bynan of 1887 Tenth street, and was apparently too near the tracks, as a projecting rod of the engine struck him and threw him about fifteen feet into the air. Johnson struck the ground on his head and fractured his skull. He died about five minutes afterward. The remains were removed to the morgue. Johnson was an elevator operator in San Francisco. His relatives reside in Stockton.

SACRIFICE SALE.
Fifty-two feet of show cases and counters must be sold at once. Oakland Jewelry Co., 1014 Washington.

CHURCH MEASURE.
Mr. Johnson's advocacy of the bill along the lines he took showed to many of his hearers that it was a church measure notwithstanding his denial of this fact. Messrs. Wyatt and Root opposed the measure in short addresses, while Sackett favored being a move in the right direction. Although Johnson made a strong appeal for support the bill on roll call after voting down the committee substitute, showed that the members were not ready to place themselves on record as favoring interference by State in religious liberty.

Those voting were:
Ayes—Berry, Campbell, Case, Chandler, Cogswell, Costa, Davis, Dren, Finney, Hammond, Johnson (Sacramento), Lennon, McConnell, Pierce, Pyle, Sackett, Smith, Spaulding, Thompson (Los Angeles), Westling—29.

Noes—Baxter, Beban, Bell, Birdsall, Bishop, Boyle, Bush, Butler, Coghlan, Cornish, Calester, Cullen, Cutting, Devlin, Fisher, Forbes, Frattessa, Hartman, Held, Hewitt, Higgins, John, Johnson (Los Angeles), Jury, Kohlman, Lucas, Ludwig, Lynch, McCallan, McKeon, McMullin, Otis, Percival, Root, Snyder, Stanton, Strohl, Strowbridge, Thompson (San Francisco), Toomey, Transue, Werke, Whitmore, Wilson, Wyatt and Mr. Speaker—46.

SEVENTH AND WEBSTER ST. PROPERTY IS ADVANCING

Nearly Forty-Five Per Cent of an Increase in the Values in the Past Thirty Days.

Thirty days ago the M. F. Minner of Oakland's growth and believes that there are many more fortunes to be made in real estate here as the city builds up. He expects to make as big a profit on the property he has bought as Mr. Kayser made and that in quite as short a time. Mr. Kayser will leave April 1st, for a trip to Europe to visit his aged mother, as a result of the deal. The latest sale shows an advance in the frontage value of the property from $450 per front foot to $650, an increase of $200 per front foot.

INSURANCE WILL NOW BE CONSIDERED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 21.—That there will be "something doing" in insurance legislation this week is now positively asserted. The committee of the Senate having many bills before it has decided to recommend several committee substitutes embodying the important features of all the bills before it. This evening the committee will decide on at least one bill, that of a standard form of policy and this has been made a special order of business for Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Other bills will follow later but this bill will be a great step forward in insurance legislation in California.

Mr. Johnson's advocacy of the bill along the lines he took showed to many of his hearers that it was a church measure notwithstanding his denial of this fact. Messrs. Although Johnson made a strong appeal for support the bill on roll call after voting down the committee substitute, showed that the members were not ready to place themselves on record as favoring interference by State in religious liberty.

YOUNG BAPTISTS TO HOLD BIG RALLY

Plans have been made for a grand rally of the Young People's department of the San Francisco Baptist Association, comprising the various Baptist churches about the bay cities, at Vallejo on Washington's Birthday. It is expected that this occasion will call together possibly the largest gathering of young people of one denomination on the Pacific coast up to this time. About 350 or 400 members of the various young people's societies will take the steamer "Frisbie" Friday morning at Vallejo about 9:30 a. m., visiting the navy yard and being entertained at dinner by the Vallejo Baptist church, Rev. H. W. Nice, pastor.

Rev. C. W. Brinstad, superintendent of missions for the Pacific coast, and Rev. William Thomas pastor Calvary Baptist church, Oakland, will deliver addresses on this occasion. Plans will be discussed en route looking forward to an aggressive evangelistic campaign in the association, also for the annual meeting and rally to be held in April next.

Lame Back.
This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannel lightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by Cusgod Bros., Broadway, corner Seventh, and Washington, corner of Twelfth.

The Davis Farm Again.

"Apparently opposition to the State farm at Davisville is not confined to Fresno," says the Woodland Democrat. It is singular that our Woodland contemporary cannot be induced to state any proposition relating to the so-called university farm at Davisville correctly. There is no opposition to the farm, but there is decided opposition to the scheme to separate the Agricultural College from the State University and locate it at Davisville. The farm was purchased as a field for experimentation in practical agriculture, not as a site for the Agricultural College. Since its acquisition, the State has become possessed by desire of the magnificent estate of M. Theodore Kearney near Fresno. This estate is left in fee simple to the university to promote a higher and better agriculture and to give the youth of California practical training in agricultural pursuits. The income from the Kearney bequest will defray the expense of the instruction and experimentation at Fresno, while the State treasury will be called on to meet similar expense at Davisville. An appropriation of $132,000 is now before the Legislature to erect buildings at the latter place, and because of the haste to get the money for buildings not at all necessary at this time, an adequate appropriation to erect a building for the Agricultural College at Berkeley is denied. Parochial greed and jealousy are playing the Davisville farm against the university and the true interests of the College of Agriculture. Criticism of this shortsighted policy is what the Woodland Democrat euphemistically and disingenuously describes as hostility to the Davisville farm. The Woodland paper may deceive a few of its local patrons as to the issues involved, but it cannot impose upon the people of the State.

By a vote of 42 to 28, eighteen Senators being paired, Reed Smoot retains his seat in the Senate. This result was foreshadowed from the first. The decision of the Senate was perhaps the wisest that could have been made under the circumstances, although it was clearly shown during the investigation that Smoot is a representative of the Mormon hierarchy rather than the people of Utah. Church influence made him a Senator and as a Senator he is merely a representative of the governing body of a religious organization. Nevertheless he is not disqualified under the constitution. He was elected as the Federal constitution and the State law direct and to deprive him of his seat on general principles would have set a dangerous precedent. Smoot can do no harm in the Senate but his expulsion would have opened the door to future abuses of partisan power. Therefore it is better that we should bear with Smoot instead of establishing a precedent which would not only be a sinister innovation but might be made the warrant for future action destructive of the political rights of States other than Utah.

City and County Attorney Burke of San Francisco points out that the terms of the compromise entered into between the President and the school board cannot be carried out without amending the State law, which is not likely to be done under the circumstances. If Japanese children under sixteen years of age are admitted to all the schools, Japanese children over that age will have to be admitted likewise. The Oriental school will also have to be abolished. If an Oriental school be maintained the law requires that all Oriental children shall attend it. As a deputy of the city and county attorney accompanied the Mayor and the Board of Education to Washington, it is singular that these phases of the question should not have been presented at the conferences between the President and the San Francisco officials. But perhaps the President assumed that the California Legislature would amend or repeal any law of the State at his command.

At different times the State capital has been located at Monterey, Benicia, San Jose and Sacramento. On the theory that rotation is desirable, it is now Berkeley's turn.

"Tell It to the Marines."

The saying, "Tell it to the marines," is traced to Pepys, the author of the famous "Diary," and it is said by him to have originated with Charles II of England. "It so befell," as the story goes, "that his light-hearted majesty, with an exceedingly bored expression on his swarthy face, was strolling in the shade with the ingenious Mr. Pepys, secretary to the admiralty. 'I had speech yesterday at Deptford,' said Mr. Pepys, 'with the captain of the Deiyance, who hath but lately returned from the Indies, and who told me the two most wonderful things that ever I did hear in my life.' Among the stories told were of fish flying in the air. 'Fish flying in the air,' exclaimed his majesty. 'Ha! ha! a quaint conceit, which 'twere too good to spoil with keeping! What ho! sir!' he turned and beckoned the colonel, Sir William Killigrew, of the newly raised maritime regiment on foot, who was following in close conversation with the Duke of York—'we would discourse with you on a matter touching your element. What say you, colonel, to a man who swears he hath seen fishes fly in the air?'"

"I should say, sire," returned the sea soldier, simply, "that the man hath sailed in Southern seas. For when your majesty's business carried me thither of late I did frequently observe more flying fish in one hour than the hairs of my head in number."

"Old Roley glanced narrowly at the colonel's frank, weather-beaten face. Then with a laugh he turned to the secretary."

"Mr. Pepys," said he, "from the very nature of their calling no class of our subjects can have so wide a knowledge of seas and lands as the officers and men of our loyal maritime regiment. Henceforth whenever we cast doubts upon a tale that lacketh likelihood we will first tell it to the marines."—Boston Globe.

Evil Days for the Boss.

Clearly the boss is having a serious time everywhere. The bosses of New York State, of both parties, have their serious troubles, and now Boss Braxton of Rhode Island is in misery. His pursuit of his ordinary political business is sadly interfered with, and he is under surveillance, like the New York gamblers, or like a suspected criminal, or like a red light district. Having installed himself in his usual quarters at the State capitol, very much as our own Odell used to do, he is publicly insulted by Governor Higgins, who denounces his presence in the State House, declaring that he is a "disreputable and disgusting character, and is not fit company for any decent man or woman." He even names the room—No. 207—in which he has ensconced himself. In the meantime the Providence Journal is keeping tab on this well-abused boss, and is recording and publishing his movements, giving the names of the unhappy legislators whom he interviews. Surely there is a moral uplift in public life which must be encouraged.—Harper's Weekly.

WHERE ANTIPASS LEGISLATION MIGHT BE WORTH WHILE

VICTUALS AND VIRTUES.

A wise old person born beneath a very brilliant star.
Says, "Tell me what you eat and I will tell you what you are!"
And every careful thinking man is ready to confess
His daily fare determines what he must be, more or less.

For woodmen, chops and cutlets are the proper food, they say;
Men who are always in the dumps eat dumplings every day;
The jeweler must have his gems; the smoker wants his puffs;
And faulty baseball players live on muffins, hence their muffs.

The dwarf is fed on short-cake and the bowler dines on rolls;
It's sword-fish gives the soldier nerve to win his cherished goals.
The pugilist likes scrapple with some pound-cake for dessert;
And nibbling at a fritter makes a trifter and a flirt.

Turnovers give the acrobat his very flippant way;
The man who won't have Shakespeare must have Bacon every day;
It's sponge-cake makes the loafer—this is not an idle dream—
And there would be no timid girls if there were no "I scream!"

The after-dinner speakers who must disappoint their host
Because they are afraid to talk have eaten quail on toast.
Spring lamb done brown suits Wall Street best, and printers like mince "pi".

While layer-cake quite captivates the poultry-keeper's eye.

Those humid folks who swelter when it's ninety in the shade
And feel so weak they sigh for help, should ask for lemonade.
And everybody, so we're told, the cultured or the rude,
Can, if they will, be what they will, by eating proper food.

—Nixon Waterman in The Village.

A Historic Successful Forgery.

A clumsy forgery, which went undetected, would, had it been discovered, have put a wholly different face upon the result of the struggle between Hayes and Tilden for the Presidential election in 1877. This document was a forged Republican certificate, one of the five upon which the fate of the contest hung. In this certificate the Republicans had found vital errors at a moment when it was too late to have them properly corrected. Heroic measures were taken, the forgery committed, the document rushed to Washington just in time; and though the facts were discovered later, the forger was never detected. Frederick Trevor Hill, the lawyer and writer, has made a special study of this crucial case, and gives an interesting account of it in the March number of Harper's Magazine.

How Bees Refuted the Scientists.

Maeterlinck thinks it is man's vanity which causes him to doubt the proofs of intelligence in flowers and the lesser animal creatures. He relates in Harper's Magazine for March an incident to prove the intelligence of bees. Two English entomologists declared that they would admit the reasoning faculties of bees when it was proved that bees had ever "had the idea of substituting clay or mortar for wax and propolis." Just at this time another naturalist, Andrew Knight, made a cement of wax and turpentine and with it coated the barks of trees. The bees at once used this new and unknown building material, which they found already prepared, and ceased gathering propolis altogether—thus proving that they not only had a new idea but acted upon it.

A Royal Joke.

Spain's twenty-year-old king is still, it seems, very much of the boy. Every once in a while he drops unexpectedly into the unconventional in a way productive of much embarrassment to his entourage.

His latest prank was played in the great cathedral at Leon, to which, with his queen, he recently paid an unofficial visit. He had gone alone into the organ loft, and had begun to play a chant—for Alfonso's education has made of him an organist of ability as well as a linguist—when with no warning whatever he switched off into a sharp military march, at the same time calling out in a loud voice: "Attention! Quick step! Forward!"

Priests and snite were for the instant too surprised to do anything but gasp—and the next minute there was the solemn strain of the chant again, with the laughter of the king heard beneath it.—Harper's Weekly.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

ARCHBISHOP MONTGOMERY.

"He was laid in the grave!" Is it all we say when the noble and brave shall have passed away? Have we come to the end when we look good-bye in the eyes of a friend as they close to die?

'Twere the bitterest woe of a bitter doubt.
If the Spirit could know that the light goes out.

'Twere the emptiest creed for a soul to live
And the cruellest need for a God to give;

But as creatures of love He has made our fate,
To our end must be love—for He knows not hate.

The Creator has traced in His works a plan
And His power is placed in the eyes of man;

That the things He has wrought by His mighty hand
May foreshadow the thought of a scheme more grand.

And the creatures who grope through the finite strife
See a justified hope for immortal life

In the beauty of earth, in the sea and sky—
See more beautiful birth for the forms that die.

And the faith that is ours is a mystic bond
That shall reach with its powers to the souls beyond.

Though we grieve for our Priest in his stricken prime,
Called away from life's heart ere its closing time,

We are bound by the tie of tradition, dear,
To withstand and defy ev'ry mortal fear.

Though the grave be his bed, and his voice is not
He shall never be dead, till he is forgot.

—Mary Lambert.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MAYOR

To Hon. F. G. Nott Mayor of Oakland:
Dear Sir: Incorporation is a thing of the past, and it now comes down to the matter of annexation. You have been out here to Fruitvale, and have made various promises if we would annex, and I want to ask you some questions on the subject.

You have promised us 100 electric lights. When will we get them?
You have promised us 10 policemen. When will we get them?

You have promised us two fire engines. When will we get them?
Your city election takes place before the election for annexation. Therefore it will be impossible for us to have any representation in the council for at least two years. During that time, how will we be treated?

Will Oakland continue the street watering from and after annexation, or will we have to await next year's taxes on the ground that there is no appropriation?

Will Oakland continue the street lighting which we have now, or will we have to wait for the same reason?

Will our present sewer system be torn up on the ground of inadequacy, and we, who are paying bonds, and will have to pay bonds for some twenty years yet, at least some of us, be taxed by the city for sewers which we do not need, for "sewer districts" to accommodate those who want sewers beyond the limits of the present sanitary districts?

These are very important questions which will have a great effect upon the vote in the three sanitary districts.

If the city of Oakland will give us what Mr. Bridge is now giving us, and what he will continue to give us in case annexation does not carry, it will have great weight with a large number of us who have been heretofore for incorporation.

Can you make good what you promise?
Yours truly,
J. H. W. RILEY,
Fruitvale, February 19, 1907.

MILKMAN IS UNDER ARREST

L. A. Bangs Is Accused of Battery by Alameda Chinaman—Is Held in Jail.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 21.—L. A. Bangs, a dairyman, was arrested last night on a battery charge preferred by Ah Wing, an Americanized Chinese, a native of this city. The Oriental alleges he was brutally beaten by the milk dealer for no cause whatever. The case will be heard tomorrow. The milkman is now out on bail.

J. Hawkins, Will Lane and F. J. Venable were arrested last night and charged with disturbing the peace by officer Keyes. The men were fighting on Park street when taken into custody and were in various stages of disadaptation from their rough and tumble method of sparring. They were released on $1000 bail.

THE TYRANNY OF CLOTHES

Place a man in a silk hat and frock coat and transport him to a farmyard. Agricultural pursuits may be the one passion of his life, but clad in these garments he feels in such surroundings miserable, out of place, essentially urban. Clothe him conversely in flannels or knickers and place him in a church and it is utterly impossible for him to assume a fittingly devotional frame of mind. Unlimited autocracy itself cannot impose such tyrannies on the subject. Civilization is the slave of its clothes, and there is no prospect of freedom.—London Graphic.

MAN WEEPS FOR DOG THAT KILLED HIS WIFE

Owner of Savage Animal Blames Woman Who Was Mangled to Death by Canine.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—"I am really more sorry now for 'Don' than I am for my wife. It was all her fault. I am positive that the dog would never have harmed her had she not treated him cruelly."

With tears in his eyes, James T. Smith made this statement when he learned that, by order of Coroner Zern, the English bull terrier which killed Mrs. Lena V. Smith had been asphyxiated at the Morris Hotel, 1212 Lombard street.

Although at the time the mangled body of the woman was lying in an undertaking establishment at Twentieth and Locust streets, awaiting burial, Smith seemed to be thinking only of his dog—the dog that had eaten all the flesh off his wife's right arm and caused her to die in dreadful agony after what was left of the mangled member had been amputated.

He insisted upon taking "Don" to the place of execution himself, and the animal exhibited no bad temper on the way. Part of the time he ran loose, and he never offered to bite any of the persons who passed, or the reporters who crowded around him. On the contrary, he seemed to be in a rare good humor with himself, and capered about playfully.

Before he was put to death, he was posed for several flashlight photographs. The explosion of the powder frightened him, but still he made no hostile move. After Smith had taken a last tearful farewell of the terrier, "Don" was put into the lethal tank, and in thirty seconds the charcoal fumes had smothered him.

"Poor 'Don'! I'll never see him again," muttered the bereaved husband. "I would not have taken $100 for him. He had never bitten anyone before, and it was all my wife's fault that he bit her."

Mrs. Smith will be buried this afternoon in Lafayette Cemetery.

RAISED FROM POVERTY TO POSSESSION OF WEALTH

A Colorado Mining Man's Wife Who Owns the Finest Pearls in the World.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Samuel Newhouse, the wealthy mining operator, has just presented to his charming wife a mansion in this city, and she will spend much of her time here, where she is popular in court circles.

Mrs. Newhouse is credited with having the finest string of pearls in the world. A single string of the gems cost her husband just $150,000.

Mrs. Newhouse has had a remarkable career. She was not 20 when she was married. Her husband was comparatively poor, but he had picked up a mining claim in Colorado and pinned his faith to it. His young wife was plucky, and when it was suggested that they live in a little cabin on the claim she quickly assented. Describing her experiences, she said, recently:

"It was a two-days ride on a burro from the last mining camp to the isolated peak we were bound for. We lived in a tiny cabin, and we were alone in the world."

"I did all the housework, cooking, washing and ironing. My stove was so near the dining table that I could reach over and get the dishes. At twilight we used to watch the sun go down, and my husband would tell me all the beautiful things he would buy me when we got rich. I was a happy, contented wife on the top of that mountain."

"Well, Mr. Newhouse found what he was looking for, and very soon after that he began to accumulate money in large sums, and all he had prophesied on the mountain came true."

"I feel that it is good to have been poor—good not to forget it. It keeps us human, and money seems so often to have the contrary effect."

FATHER AND HIS FOUR CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

Allentown, Pa., Baker Attempts to Rescue His Little Ones and Is Overcome.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 21.—Five persons were burned to death in the first fatal fire in this city in a score of years, when William Reidenauer, a baker, and his four children met death in flames which originated in his bake-oven.

Reidenauer had been baking doughnuts for Shrove Tuesday, when the hot fat set fire to the building. The man fought the flames alone until he saw that they had got beyond his control. Then he called to his wife to summon help, and ran upstairs to rescue the children.

In the hallway he was overcome by smoke and was burned to death where he lay.

The children's charred bodies were found in the second-floor rooms where they had been sleeping. The dead are: William Reidenauer, 38 years old; Percy, 8 years; Francis, 6 years; Pauline, 4 years; and Wilhelm, 4 weeks.

The mother has not been told of the fate of her husband and children, but, suspecting what has happened, is prostrated.

FOR OTHER DAYS.

When you, of old, who've known me long,
Through struggles, thick and thin,
Known every weakness, every wrong,
Each virtue and each sin;
When you step in the sombre room
Where cold I lay, will you
Remember, there within the gloom,
The good or bad you knew?

When glory's crown grows dim and fades,
And eyes no longer weep;
When falls the evening's dusky shades,
And comes the peaceful sleep;
Will you, when looking there on death,
Remember other days,
And whisper softly 'neath your breath
A word, just one, of praise?

And will you bend across my bier,
Where I, in Death's embrace,
Repose beyond all doubt and fear,
And on my cold, white face
Impress a kiss from your warm lips?
Or will you turn and go?
I'm wondering, while twilight slips,
If I shall ever know?

—Will E. Griffin in Milwaukee Sentinel.

The business warfare between Stuyvesant Fish and E. H. Harriman, which cost the former the presidency of the Illinois Central Railroad, has extended into the social life of the parties and may cost Mrs. Fish the social leadership. In fact, the business warfare, it is said among society people, has resulted from a slight put upon Miss Mary Harrison, daughter of the railroad king, by Mrs. Fish. Pictures of the two ladies here appear. The full length photograph shows Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, while the medallion is a picture of Miss Harrison.

CONCERNING WOMEN

"There is every indication that the reign of the elbow sleeve is drawing to a close. The sleeves on the new gowns are short, but come well below the elbow, and the close-fitting cuff of tucked chiffon and lace lengthens them still more. The fashion has been so exaggerated and caricatured that it has entirely lost any smart effect, except in some elaborate gown with which elbow sleeves are appropriate. For midsummer and in the thin fabrics the fashion will revive to a certain extent, but fortunately its popularity has proved its own undoing, and ere long it will be numbered as a past fashion."

One beautiful gown was of pale gray mousseline de soie, spangled with silver and dotted with small slim diamonds. The sleeves were of smoke-colored mousseline and the wearer had as a headdress a wreath composed of three green spangled lizards. The combination of grays (and gray, by the way, is a very good color just now) and the silver and green spangles made a very effective whole.

Save sour milk for making various cakes and suet puddings: it makes them very light, and thus a constant source of waste is avoided.

PHILADELPHIA WOMAN'S FIGHT WITH A BURGLAR

He Finally Escapes by Leaping Through the Window, Carrying Off Sash and Shutters.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—Awakened by a start early the other morning, Christine Doyle, 19 years old, of 1607 Brown street, opened her eyes to find a strange man standing beside her bed.

"What do you want in my room at this time in the morning, Will?" demanded Miss Doyle, thinking the man was her elder brother.

With a hissed curse, the man replied: "I'm not Will. If you make a move I'll kill you."

As the girl screamed the fingers of the intruder closed tightly upon her neck.

Mrs. William Doyle, the mother of the young woman, was sleeping with her daughter. The elder woman is deaf, and did not stir until her daughter screamed. The scream awakened the mother. Mrs. Doyle is a large, active woman. She jumped from the bed and grappled with the intruder. Although a small man, he handled the woman as if she was a featherweight. Releasing his grip on the daughter as the mother entered the fray, he turned upon the older woman and struck her.

Mrs. Doyle was too agile and too strong for him. Although he hit and kicked her, she persisted in clinging to the intruder. They wrestled all over the room. Miss Doyle stuck her head out of the window and yelled for help.

The intruder wrenched himself free from Mrs. Doyle by kicking her in the stomach. He made a running leap for the window, and went through it, carrying window, sash and shutters in his flight. In his flight he lost his hat.

The men of the household gave chase, but they failed to come up with him. Both women were at a loss to know why a burglar should pick out their home as a place for operations.

This is the third time within six months that an attempt has been made to rob their home, they say. The first attempt was about six months ago, when Miss Doyle discovered a man ransacking a bureau in a bedroom on the second floor. At that time the man brushed her aside and ran out of the house. A second attempt occurred about three months ago, when Mrs. Doyle discovered a strange man in the house as she went to put out the milk bottles in the morning. This time the intruder jumped over the back fence.

In the last attempt it is supposed that the man gained entrance through the parlor window.

The gas in the room where Mrs. Doyle and her daughter slept was turned very low, leaving a glimmer of light. The man is described as being about 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighing about 140 pounds. He was smooth shaven and had dark eyes, and dark curly hair. He wore a dark suit and a long overcoat.

ARRESTED FOR ABETTING CHILD'S ELOPEMENT

Hotel Clerk Helps a Vaudeville Actor to Carry Off a Thirteen-Year-Old Girl.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Feb. 21.—The second chapter in a sensational elopement case was enacted by the police here when they arrested Harvey Haley, a hotel clerk, charged with being an abettor of Harry Seeback, a vaudeville actor, who at 2 o'clock the previous morning left this city for Elmira, N. Y., with 18-year-old Harriet Roebler, a pretty girl who had become enamored of him during a week's engagement at a local theater.

Seeback and the girl were arrested at an Elmira boarding house the other day and Chief of Police Evans went to that city to arrange extradition. The girl in her confession declared that she had been assisted in the elopement plan to Seeback's room in the hotel by Haley.

A telephone message giving this information to the police here resulted in Haley's immediate arrest.

EDNA MAY WILL LIVE IN LONDON WHEN WED

Actress Proposes to Continue Her Stage Career After Becoming Mrs. Oscar Lewisohn.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Edna May, who has admitted that she was engaged to Oscar Lewisohn, of New York, a brother of Jesse Lewisohn, makes the further declaration that she will reside permanently in London. She also says that she will not leave the stage, adding:

"I met Mr. Lewisohn several years ago in New York. I decided recently to accept his proposal of marriage. Mr. Lewisohn wants the ceremony to take place right away, but I feel that I ought to complete my present contract, at least, before beginning preparations for it. Doubtless we will be married some time this year."

"I love London too much to ever consent to really reside anywhere else. Mr. Frohman has already made several plans for my future, and I will not disappoint him. But hereafter America will see me only en tour."

Mr. Lewisohn has been a devoted swain ever since Miss May's latest London season began. Nightly he brings her to the theater in an automobile from Ascot, unfailingly he sits through the play, and then drives her home again. He has literally showered her with jewels.

He is telling all his friends Miss May might have married a title, but prefers a plain American copper millionaire. Miss May divorced Fred Titus, a bicycle rider, her first husband, two years ago.

WHEN I GET RICH.

When I get rich, oh, many things I'll do;
For all poor folks whose lives are full of care,
Their days, now drear, I'll make so sweet and fair,
They'll know no grief, no sorrow, no despair
When I get rich!

When I get rich the friends I love so dear
Shall know no more those weary, toilsome hours;
I'll light their skies with sunshine, and the showers
Will scatter on their pathway fairest flowers,
When I get rich!

When you get rich! Those friends you loved so well
May not be here, but far beyond the skies,
And never know the hidden love that lies
Within your heart—ah! foolish, vain surmise—
When you get rich!

Wait not till rich, but haste to do it now!
Yes, scatter sunshine—dry the falling tear—
Light up with hope the darkened heart and drear,
That may be near you—Oh, ne'er mind the year
When you get rich!

—Rev. P. H. McCauley in Freeman's Journal.

MRS. THAW MAKES STARTLING CONFESSION

REVEALS ALL OF HER RELATIONS WITH LATE STANFORD WHITE

Acknowledges That She Got Intoxicated at Some of the Famous Wine Parties in the Studio of the Dead Architect.

I did not receive the letters from witness, but from Mr. Thaw.

"You will be heard later," remarked the judge.

"Who introduced you to White?" asked Jerome of Mrs. Thaw.

"Edna Goodrich."

"Where?"

"At the 24th street studio house. I should not call it a studio, for it was not."

"How did you come to go there?"

"Miss Goodrich invited me."

"Did Miss Goodrich tell you, White was married?"

"No."

GOES TO PARTIES.

Mrs. Thaw told of going to several parties with Stanford White after her return from Europe in 1903.

"Was there anything improper?"

"At one he treated a young girl just as he treated me. He patted her on the head and said: 'This little girl must have just one glass of wine and must go home early to her mother.'"

"Do you know that Stanford White ever harmed that girl in any way?"

"No, I am only saying what I saw. It was the same bluff."

"How long had you been in the chorus before that experience with White?"

"Three months."

In answer to a request for an explanation of her statement that it was Stanford White's personality that caused a softening of her anger, and her writing to him from Boulogne, Mrs. Thaw said:

"Outside that one awful thing, Stanford White was a very grand man. He was very good to me and very kind. When I told Mr. Thaw this he said it only made White more dangerous."

Before the 24th incident he had never made love to me. Every one liked him and no one would believe these things until they really found them out, and then they said they were sorry.

THE WINE SHE DRANK.

Mr. Jerome next asked regarding the wine she drank the night she lost consciousness, and brought from her the admission that the champagne tasted like all other champagnes she had drunk up to that time.

"Then you didn't intend for the jury to assume when you said it tasted bitter that it differed from any champagne you had tasted?"

"Oh, I did not intend that. It was not particularly different, it all tasted bitter to me. It all made me dizzy and caused my ears to thump."

Mrs. Thaw said that after the occurrence in the twenty-fourth street house she saw Mr. White almost every night until she went to school in the fall of 1903. After January, 1903, she refused to go anywhere alone with him, although he continually urged her to do so.

PARTIES IN STUDIO.

"At different times during 1901 and 1902, you were at parties in the studios and met many different men and women?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see any improprieties at any of these parties?"

"Yes."

"What?"

"Well, they told a lot of stories."

"Did Stanford White tell any of the stories?"

"Yes."

"Were they obscene?"

"Yes."

"Were there any other women there?"

"Yes."

TELL LEWD STORIES.

"Did they tell stories?"

"Yes."

"What?"

"Well, they told a lot of stories."

"Did Stanford White tell any of the stories?"

"Yes."

"Were they obscene?"

"Yes."

"Were there any other women there?"

"Yes."

ASSERTS THEY ARE HOGGISH

Members of Engineering Faculty Are Attacked in College Paper.

BERKELEY, Feb. 21.—Hoggish practices are attributed to the members of the engineering faculty of the University of California by the editor of the student daily.

They are accused of monopolizing the reference books in the University library to such an extent as to jeopardize the scholastic standing of the students, who are compelled to wait for weeks for the return of the books or to order them from the east and Europe.

The caustic editorial follows:

"There are long and dreary complaints going the rounds among the engineers that professors in the engineering colleges like to take the new publications of value in the courses from the library for long and continuous intervals while a dozen or more of students have no opportunities of looking up the references to these volumes and if compelled to order a book on their own account, receive the same late in the term. Just why professors should take upon themselves the privilege of depriving of reference books the use of a valuable reference book is what is setting the engineers 'agog,' borrowing a phrase from the San Francisco Examiner, and in their numerous debates on the subject, the general consensus of opinion seems to be that 'Sauce for the goose should be served for the gander' in other words, that they should have an even chance with instructors for reference books in the library."

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—H. R. Elder of San Francisco, who, several days ago, attempted to shoot "Cotton" O'Brien of the city detective bureau, was discharged from custody. He was found to be sane and declared he had no recollection of the attempt to kill the officer. He said that for two days previous to the act he had been drinking a good deal of whiskey. He was introduced to Captain O'Brien and ordered to remain in custody until he was sober. He was allowed to go after promising not to drink liquor again to excess.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 21.—Numerous reports were made to the police last night by residents. The first report of the evening came from the home of Mrs. Farrel on Pacific avenue near Park street. She reported one of the roomers at her house had come home in an intoxicated condition and after almost setting the house on fire expressed a desire to sleep in the kitchen with the crackery. Mrs. Farrel feared more fires would be the result and telephoned the police station to have an officer sent down immediately. When the policeman arrived at the house he was informed the troublesome boarder had been put to bed and his services were not needed.

J. Myrick, residing at 1315 Lafayette street, made a report that some choice preserves he had stored in the basement of his house were slowly disappearing, but with great regularity, due to some agent outside of the members of his family. He further reported that four of his dogs had been poisoned and that he believed the janitor had done the work so as to have free opportunity to enter the basement when he desired.

Edward Rogers, a school boy, was arrested for jumping on a Santa Clara avenue car. He was released and hurriedly disappeared toward his home at 1821 Buena Vista avenue.

"One had too much wine and told some."

Jerome wanted the name and Mrs. Thaw whispered it to him.

"Ah," he exclaimed, "she was the same woman to whom two years later you were writing letters from Paris telling her about the 'Dead Rat'?"

"Yes."

"How long did you know her?"

"Until just before my marriage."

"Then your friendship broke up?"

"I would not call it friendship."

"You corresponded, didn't you, with this lewd person?"

"I didn't say lewd person. I said the stories were bad."

"I didn't say lewd person. I said the stories were bad."

"You have letters from her?"

"Yes."

"Will you produce them?"

"Yes."

At this point a ten minute recess was taken to air the courtroom.

When Mrs. Thaw left the courtroom at the noon recess she collapsed completely.

She was placed on a couch in the witness room by her friend, May MacKenzie, who revived her by the use of smelling salts.

This occurred at a supper at Sherry's and Mrs. Thaw testified that a few days later she removed to the Grand Hotel and occupied rooms adjoining and connecting with those occupied by Thaw.

The witness also said she traveled in Europe with Thaw in 1903 and stayed with him for three weeks in an old castle which he had hired. Her mother, she said, was then in London.

Mrs. Thaw said that on Christmas eve, 1903, she spent the night in Thaw's apartments.

The Thaw trial adjourned until Monday next.

The Calumet & Hecla Copper Company, the Company Whose Shares are Worth $850 Each, is Our Neighbor, and This Fact Speaks for the Value of Our Property

The Darwin Amalgamated Mining Company

Offers 100,000 Shares of Its Treasury Stock at

15 CENTS PER SHARE

And Submits the Following Details for the Information of Investors:

The Organization

The Company has just been organized with a capital stock of 1,000,000 shares of which 400,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. The shares are of the par value of $1.00 each, and are full paid and non-assessable. The property of the company consists of the MADRID GROUP OF SIX CLAIMS, about 200 acres located one and a half miles southeasterly from Darwin, Coso Mining District, Inyo County, California.

The officers and directors of the company are as follows:

PRESIDENT, Judge L. Willstaedt; also president of the Nevada & Eastern Leasing Company; and the Goldfield Potlatch Leasing & Mining Company, at Goldfield.

VICE-PRESIDENT, Dr. W. T. Liggett, a prominent physician of Goldfield and with thirty-three years of practical mining experience.

SECRETARY, C. J. Stokes; also superintendent of the Nevada & Eastern Leasing Company and the Goldfield Potlatch Leasing & Mining Company, at Goldfield.

SUPERINTENDENT, Dr. Rafael Y. Mendez, also president of the Darwin Anaconda Consolidated, and a practical experienced mining man, who has spent much of his time in the Darwin camp, and knows every property.

The Mineral Box

The Darwin range of mountains, in which the property of the Company is located, and which on account of its many rich ore deposits is also called "The Mineral Box," is fifteen miles long and five miles wide. The town of Darwin is twenty-two miles from Keeler, and is reached by stage in about two and one-half hours.

The following facts are of interest:

CALUMET AND HECLA: Took over DISPERSE AND INDEPENDENCE. Price, $150,000 to $200,000. One million dollars worth of ore in eight miles of tunneling, and 450-foot shaft.

LANE MINE: Two shafts, 600 and 500 feet. Price, $200,000. One and one-half miles of tunneling, and owns smelter.

CISTER MINE: Extensive tunneling and drifting; high-grade copper ore a few feet below surface. Price, $30,000.

The Calumet and Hecla also took over the GENERAL WARREN MINE and about sixty or eighty other claims, with the intention of taking over in April, 1907, perhaps another sixty claims.

LUCKY JIM MINE, acquired by Boston capital; running two shifts of fifteen men each. Extensive tunneling, and high-grade ores—silver and lead especially. Carries group of twenty claims. In early days stock of lucky Jim was as high as $10 a share. Has its own mill and thousands of tons of slag running over $20 a ton. Left there by five old smelters.

JACKASS AND LEE MINES are, and have been, heavy producers, with extensive workings.

CHRISTMAS GIFT MINE and THOMSON GROUP have also been heavy producers.

COLUMBIA MINE, has a 500-foot shaft, and has a main ledge and a cross ledge. The 500-foot shaft is all in high-grade ore.

Stages on all these mines have been run up and down waste running from 5 per cent to 15 per cent ore, which was of no value in those days, when they shipped only high-grade ore on mules to Los Angeles, a distance of 250 miles.

A standard gauge railroad is being surveyed by the Southern Pacific between Keeler, Darwin and Ransburg. Darwin, however, has already the Keeler narrow gauge and an electric ore tramway, twenty-one miles long, from Keeler to Darwin, is in process of construction.

BIT, GIRON, the main ore and the YARD MINE, in Arizona, for Senator Clark, struck the pay ore at a 200-foot level, and has purchased the Richardson property. He has ordered air compressors, and heavy machinery, which will replace in 3 to 4 weeks the gasoline hoists now at work.

"I WILL GO DOWN A THOUSAND FEET IF NECESSARY, BECAUSE I KNOW THAT THE PAY ORE IS THERE," Mr. Giron used to say, before he started sinking. He said the same at ELY COPPER CAMP, NE-

VADA, of which he is the father, and he made a flourishing camp out of it. But ELY copper is only a few per cent, whereas the vein, at a 600-foot level, in the Lane Mine, Darwin, runs at least 8 per cent or 10 per cent average in twenty-five feet exposed.

BITTE, Montana, was originally only a silver and lead camp until by a coincidence, they struck copper at a 500-foot level. The same happened in the celebrated TINTIC COPPER fields of Utah. Darwin produced millions of dollars in high-grade silver and lead twenty-five years ago. The population was 8,000 people, but the mines struck copper in the lower levels, which had no value in those days, and the silver fell from $75 to $25, so they abandoned the camp, until Mr. Giron and some Nevada operators arrived and exposed the riches which for twenty-five years have been lying forgotten.

The Madrid Group

The following description of the property of the Darwin Amalgamated Mining Company is given by Dr. Rafael Y. Mendez.

The MADRID GROUP, consisting of six full claims is surrounded by some of the choicest properties of the Darwin district. Prominent among them is the LIBERTY MINE, which belongs to the Big Chief Group, taken over by the Calumet and Hecla, and the COLUMBIA MINE, the "Johann of Darwin," twenty-five years ago. The workings of the Big Chief group, consisting of one-half dozen tunnels and extensive drifting and cross-cutting, surrounded the Madrid Group in a semi-circle, and the ledge of the Liberty and the Promontory mines can be traced directly to the Madrid group. Southerly from the Madrid, and adjoining it, lies the CLARK PROPERTY, the best-known copper property in Darwin, which even on the surface, in its open cuts and crosscuts, shows high-grade copper. The Copper belt of the Clark property, with a width of over one-half mile of heavily copper-stained lime, originates in the heart of the Madrid group, on Claims Nos. 3 and 5.

Madrid No. 8 line, among other showings, and on that same copper belt, also an open cut showing good copper ore on sides and bottom, identical with the ore extracted on the Clark properties. The Columbia ledge, running northerly and southerly, crosses the Blue Hill Mine and shifts northerly where it enters the Madrid No. 6. The same main ledge has a wide branch which crosses Madrid Nos. 3 and 5, and on Madrid No. 3 has a distinct width of from forty to seventy-five feet. It is a contact vein, with heavy iron capping, which carries silver and lead all over the surface. This ledge can be followed directly from the Columbia Mine into Madrid Nos. 3 and 5. This same ledge, on the Columbia mine, now taken over by Kirby, Lamb Steneham, is considered to have a remarkable wealth of silver, lead and copper. The main shaft on the Columbia is sunk on this ledge, and they took high-grade ore from the surface to a 500-foot level. The fact that this ledge of the Columbia produced hundreds of thousands of dollars on the Columbia ought to justify the theory that it also should carry high values on the Madrid groups, hardly over 400 feet away. This ledge is exposed on the Madrid Nos. 3 and 5 for about 700 feet, and on Madrid Nos. 1 and 2 at intervals.

The Madrid Group is only one and one-half miles from Darwin, and a very old wagon road leads right into it.

From a conservative standpoint, I can say that the Madrid Group has all the indications of containing a very extensive deposit of high-grade ore, the same as the surrounding properties.

To Be Listed Soon

The stock of this Company will be listed as soon as possible. Blue prints have been ordered, and as soon as they arrive application for listing will be made at the exchanges of Goldfield, San Francisco, etc.

Work on the property will commence as soon as the necessary material can be secured.

The 100,000 shares are offered at 15 cents, to provide for extensive development work.

Send me your order soon, or call at my office and examine ore samples. This allotment will be disposed of in a short time, and if another is offered it will be at a much higher price.

Three Good Investments

The Nevada and Eastern Leasing Co.

The stock of the Nevada and Eastern Leasing Company is a first-class investment of the present time at 25 cents per share, because the shaft of the Company's lease on the Silver Pick ground shows change of formation at 176 feet, which indicates so clearly the nearness of an ore body and we are now drifting in 2 directions on the seventy-five foot level.

The company has a full equipment of machinery, and an 1874 P. hoist, necessary buildings, and everything that is needed to work a mine. The shaft is solidly timbered and everything is in good shape for successful work.

The capital stock of the Company is 500,000 shares of $1 each, full paid, and non-assessable; 200,000 shares of this stock have been placed in the treasury.

The following Goldfield people are the officers and directors of the Company:

PRESIDENT ..... Judge L. Willstaedt
VICE-PRESIDENT ..... Dr. W. T. Liggett
TREASURER ..... J. L. Lindsey
SECRETARY ..... C. J. Stokes
SUPERINTENDENT ..... C. J. Stokes

This stock is not only of value as a prospective dividend payer, but it stands to reason that it will be advanced in price as soon as we strike an ore body, and if the ore is sufficient value for shipping purposes the sale of stock will stop at once.

You will make no mistake if you give me an order for this stock at 25 cents.

This lease, or the lease on the Silver Pick, runs till September 4, 1907, and we have six months' time after that to work up the ore on our dump.

Goldfield Potlatch Leasing and Mining Co.

Shares of the Goldfield Potlatch Leasing and Mining Company also offer a splendid investment and their prices at the present time is only

TEN CENTS PER SHARE

This Company owns a lease of 300 by 600 feet on the well-known Potlatch property, which lies between the Velvet, St. Ives and Simmerone mine and the lease has 17 months to run yet.

The Company is sinking a shaft on a west and east ledge which assayed several dollars in gold per ton on the surface and the shaft has been in ore ever since. Only a few days ago an average sampling of all the materials in the shaft at 40 feet assayed $2.40 per ton. From these indications it safe to judge that high grade ore will be found with depth and that this property will become a big producer.

The capital stock of the Company is 500,000 shares of $1 each, full paid and non-assessable; 250,000 shares of this stock having been placed in the treasury.

The following Goldfield people are officers and directors, as follows:

PRESIDENT ..... Judge L. Willstaedt
VICE-PRESIDENT ..... Dr. W. T. Liggett
TREASURER ..... J. L. Lindsey

SUPERINTENDENT ..... C. J. Stokes

Another first-class investment and one which promises quick results to the investor are the shares of

The BULLFROG FREE GOLD MINING CO.

AT 15 CENTS PER SHARE

The Company owns nine claims in one group, namely, Bullfrog Free Gold No. 1, Bullfrog Free Gold No. 2, Shoshone Rose, Free Gold Mill-site, Gold Bar Wonder, Homestake Prize, Valley View, Free Gold Ext., and Lola's Bullfrog, or a total of nearly 180 acres.

FOUR STRONG LEDGES TRAVERSE THIS PROPERTY

One ledge, five feet wide, runs through the three first-named claims, and assays $10.20 per ton on the surface. The second ledge, crossing the same three claims, and is seven feet wide, and assays $8.25 across the surface. The third ledge, running across the four last-named claims, assays across the Free Gold Mill-site the Gold Bar Wonder, the Homestake Prize and the Lola's Bullfrog claim.

This ledge is from 15 to 20 FEET WIDE and assays up to $18.00 in gold per ton.

The Company has an ideal mill-site and there is a spring of good water adjoining Lola's Bullfrog claim. The ore is there and according to surface indications, as they can be judged in the Bullfrog District.

IT IS THERE IN IMMENSE QUANTITIES

It is only a question of developing a mine and erecting a stamp mill to extract the ore.

This property is situated about 6 miles N. W. of Rhoylote.

The Company has a capital stock of 1,000,000 shares, full paid, and non-assessable, of which 400,000 shares have been placed in the treasury.

GAS KILLING SLOWLY, MAN SLASHES THROAT WITH KNIFE

M. J. Coleman Makes Two Attempts to End His Life, Made Despondent by Heavy Drinking.

Death not coming quickly enough by gas, M. J. Coleman made a desperate attempt to cut his throat with a pocket knife at 2:30 o'clock this morning in the Globe hotel. Coleman could not give a clear reason for the rash act, but partially explained to the hospital authorities that his despondency was due to heavy drinking. He first turned on the gas and in the dark lay on the bed awaiting death. The fumes were slow to fill the man's lungs, so he decided to end it all by severing the arteries in his throat. Coleman went to the dresser where his pocket knife lay and opening the large blade, drew the sharp edge across the side of his neck. The wounded man cried aloud with pain, for his second attempt at suicide met with failure. Charles Brennan, a newspaperman, and Sergeant of Police Brown, answered the calls and hurried the man to the Receiving hospital, where Steward Harry Borchert took eight sutures in the wound. Coleman is a pipefitter's helper and lives at 519 Connecticut street, San Francisco.

DEATH NEAR FRIGHTENED THRONGS ON FERRY BOATS

Collision in San Francisco Bay Narrowly
Averted at an Early Hour
This Morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—What might have been a frightful accident, with great loss of life, was narrowly averted on the bay this morning by the merest good luck when the ferry-boats Berkeley and Bay City rushed together. Panic reigned for several minutes. Women shrieked, men yelled and the crowds on the decks surged back and forth in helpless terror in the face of death. That the two boats did not collide was due, not to any efforts of their captains, but to the happiest and slenderest chance.

It was about a quarter past 7 when the broad-gauge ferry-boat Berkeley and the narrow-gauge Bay City, both of them due at the slips on this side at half-past 7, approached each other in the middle of the bay.

If some of the passengers thought that the boats were coming closer than usual they still apprehended no danger. But when the swiftly moving craft continued to bear down upon each other many passengers began to grow nervous. Both boats were crowded to their utmost capacity with men and women.

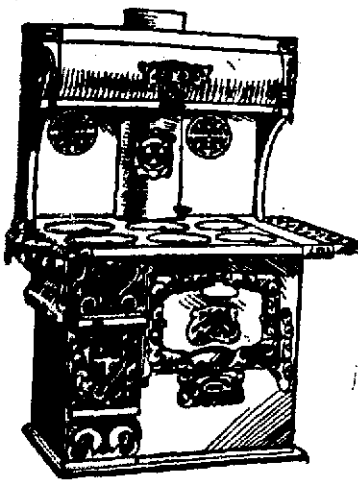

As the ferry-boats rushed together the crowds, which had been watching their approach, were seized with panic. There were loud cries and hysterical weeping among the women, while terrified men shouted warnings. So great was the commotion on the decks of the two ferry-boats that the passengers who were in the cabins, unconscious of the impending danger, rushed out and increased the disorder. In many cases fright took the form of seasickness.

But, instead of crashing together, the two boats slipped past each other without an inch to spare. It was a thrilling escape from death, and some time elapsed before the crowds regained their nerve and self-possession.

MAN SHOT DEAD; WOMAN IS ARRESTED

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Louis Fisher, 38 years of age, and one of the proprietors of the Harrison Art Company, was shot to death in his office before noon today. A fashionably dressed woman, who entered Fisher's office about 10 o'clock and who quarreled with Fisher, was found in the room after the shooting and was arrested, but declined to talk and refused to give her name to the police. The woman was later identified as Mrs. Flora McDonald, wife of Michael C. McDonald, a former prominent Democrat politician. Shortly after the identification of Mrs. McDonald, the man who was killed was identified as Webster M. Gierlin of 458 West Harrison street. He also used the name of Fisher and managed the Harrison Art Company under that name.
